

Combat-Related Special Compensation

Combat-Related Special Compensation (CRSC) provides special compensation to retirees who have retired pay reduced because of receiving U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) disability compensation. This means that qualified military retirees with 20 or more years of service that have "combat related" VA-rated disability will no longer have their military retirement pay reduced by the amount of their VA disability compensation. Instead they will receive both their full military retirement pay and their VA disability compensation.

In determining eligibility, retired members must be retired with 20 (or more) years of active duty, or retired at age 60 from the Guard or Reserve. They must be receiving retired pay, and have a compensable VA disability of 10 percent or higher. Also, retired pay must be offset by VA disability payments.

Although CRSC specifically addresses "combat-related" disabilities incurred from armed conflict, retirees who developed disabilities from other than combat may also be eligible. Disabilities caused by exposure to Agent Orange, combat training, aircrew duties, simulated war exercises, parachuting and munitions demolition potentially qualify for compensation under this program. But slipping and falling in an exercise or even during combat - if not caused by something related to combat, combat training, or an instrumentality of war - normally does not qualify for CRSC.

Our office can assist in applying for this benefit. You'll need a copy of your DD214, copies of any VA rating decisions addressing the disabilities being claimed, and any other available documentation. If you don't have these items, we can help get them.

The Kings County Veterans Service Office can complete the DMV Veteran Status Verification Form for the new California Veteran Designation on your driver's license and also issues Veteran I.D. cards to honorably discharged veterans.
